

About Progress

E-, everything's on track... is it okay for me to say that? (;^ω^)

It will take more time to get where we were originally, but as the majority had already been put together once, the second time's going pretty quickly.
We may complete work that had taken around 6 months, in perhaps 3 months.

By the way, the other day, I did some voice recording for Chris at the studio.
At the time, both the voice actor and the person in charge of the studio read the script and said, "The story and its development seem to be very interesting."
That really motivated me, so I would like to review the details, and further improve the completeness of this project! (' ∀ `)

Unexpectedly, somebody likes machine sex that much.
