

Here's the Love Hashira that I drew as a change of pace.

I like the Love Hashira because she's so cute, yet she packs so much.

With nice breasts, to boot. Being cute and erotic, she's unbeatable.

I worried about whether to draw her at a breast-angle, or to draw her panties from a low angle.....

When I draw like this, I actually take the pose myself.

It doesn't take much time to take a picture and use it as material, and when I actually take the pose, I can consider which joints are facing where, what cute finger-pose is best, etc.

If you happen to draw, please try this, as it's easier to put the image together.

By the way, it's not a chick on her shoulder. It's a warbler.